This Pocketbook is for frontline professionals and community groups working across South Yorkshire who may encounter potential victims of modern slavery or those at risk of exploitation.

The Pocketbook is intended to support professionals by:

- Explaining what modern slavery and human trafficking are and the indicators to look out for.
- Outlining the referral process for potential victims of modern slavery - known as the National Referral Mechanism.
- Offering helpful guidance on how to support a potential victim of modern slavery.
- Signposting relevant local services across Barnsley, Doncaster, Rotherham and Sheffield.

The Pocketbook has been developed by The South Yorkshire Modern Slavery Partnership (SYMSP) to support those working in several sectors including: the police, healthcare, housing, benefits, social care, immigration solicitors, charities and community groups.

At time of printing, all information in this Pocketbook was correct. If you notice any inaccuracies or changes, please email the Partnership Coordinator SYMSP@ashianasheffield.org.

Background

According to the Global Slavery Index¹, it is estimated that 136,000 people are in situations of modern slavery in the UK at any one time. However, due to the hidden nature of modern slavery we cannot be sure. The introduction of the UK Modern Slavery Act 2015 redefined the legal terms of modern slavery and human trafficking. It also provided new responsibilities for several organisations including public bodies, businesses and charities.

SYMSP is working with its partners to ensure professionals understand how to spot the signs of modern slavery, report potential incidents and ensure those exploited receive appropriate support.

Definitions

Modern Slavery is an umbrella term for activities involved in the exploitation of person(s) for the benefit of others.

The UK Modern Slavery Act 2015² consolidated existing offenses and provided new legal definitions for:

1. Slavery, Servitude, Forced or Compulsory Labour
2. Human Trafficking
3. Meaning of Exploitation

¹ <https://www.globalslaveryindex.org/2018/data/country-data/united-kingdom/>

² <https://www.legislation.gov.uk/ukpga/2015/30/contents/enacted>

📌 What is Modern Slavery?

1. Slavery, Servitude, Forced or Compulsory Labour

These activities are defined in the Modern Slavery Act and refer to when a person or group holds other person(s) in conditions of slavery or servitude, or requires them to perform forced or compulsory labour.

Slavery, Servitude, Forced or Compulsory Labour consists of:

- ▮ The means – being held, either physically or through threat of penalty e.g. threat or use of force, coercion, abduction, debt bondage deception, abuse of a position of vulnerability.
 - N.B. there does not need to be a means used for children.
- ▮ Service – the victim(s) provides a service e.g. manual labour, domestic services, begging.

2. Human Trafficking

The terms 'modern slavery' and 'human trafficking' are often used interchangeably. Human trafficking is considered a form of modern slavery and the element of movement makes it distinct.

Human trafficking consists of:

- ▮ The act – what actions are taken: recruitment, transportation, transfer, harbouring and receiving of victims(s).
 - N.B. a person may be moved internally e.g. from Doncaster to Sheffield.
- ▮ The means – how it's done: including but not limited to threats of force, coercion, abduction, debt bondage deception, abuse of a position of vulnerability.
 - N.B. there does not need to be a means used for children.
- ▮ The purpose – why it's done: refers to the type of exploitation which takes place.

What is Modern Slavery?

Human Trafficking is also often confused with 'smuggling' as they both involve movement of people. However, they are three distinct differences¹:

	Human Trafficking	Smuggling
Location	Can be across international borders or internal.	Crosses international borders.
Consent	Involves the deception or coercion of a person. Even though a person may consent to travel, it is often under false pretences.	Is a service a person may ask/pay for, despite the danger to their own safety.
Exploitation	Once a person reaches their destination, they are exploited by those involved in their movement.	Once a person reaches their destination, they are free to move on.

3. Exploitation

Forms of exploitation include but are not limited to:

- Sexual exploitation – this includes sexual abuse, forced prostitution and forms of child sexual exploitation.
- Labour exploitation – victims are forced to work long hours for little or no pay in various industries including, but not limited to, construction, agriculture, hospitality, waste management and fishing.
- Forced criminality – victims are compelled to commit crimes to benefit other persons e.g. shoplifting, cannabis cultivation, fraud.
- Domestic servitude – victims live and work in their 'employers' household and are forced to work long hours undertaking a variety of domestic tasks for very little or no pay. This is one of the most difficult forms of exploitation to uncover due to its hidden nature.
- Organ harvesting – the surgical removal of parts of the body, sold for huge profits. Whilst it is rare in the UK, it still happens.

There is no one typical victim of modern slavery, but there are some general indicators which may suggest a person is being exploited.

A person in a situation of modern slavery may:

Physical Appearance

- Show signs of physical abuse including untreated injuries, look malnourished or unkempt
- Be wearing inappropriate clothing for the weather or type of work they are doing
- Appear agitated, anxious or withdrawn.

Restricted Freedom

- Show signs they are unable to move freely or are dependent on another for travel, food and/or money
- Have no identification or travel documents in their possession
- Be vague or unclear about the address where they live
- Have their communication controlled by another person who speaks on their behalf
- Be dropped off/collected for work, usually very early or late.

Isolation

- Be fearful or distrustful when speaking to strangers especially those in a position of authority
- Have relationships which don't seem right for instance a child accompanied by an unidentified older adult
- Have limited access to family or friends
- Be unfamiliar with the local language.

Work

- Be vague or unclear about what type of work they have been doing
- Be under the impression they have had to pay for a job in the UK
- Be working excessive hours and/or consistently asking for extra shifts but have very little money
- Be concerned they are in debt to another person for their accommodation, travel and/or job.

Children

Although some of the general indicators may also relate to the exploitation of children, there are also some specific indicators that suggest a young person could be being exploited.

A young person may:

- Be found in areas away from home, or go missing for unexplained periods of time
- Be absent from school or disappear during school time
- Change their attitude and begin to display sexualised or violent behaviour or language
- Become disinterested with school or their hobbies
- Have money, gifts or items that they cannot afford and/or cannot explain
- Have unexplained injuries and/or sexually transmitted infections
- Appear withdrawn or afraid to talk especially to those in authority
- Give similar answers to other children or appear to have been coached in answering questions.

It is important to remember that these are general examples of exploitation and indicators. An individual may experience multiple forms of exploitation and/or abuse. Modern slavery can happen to people of all backgrounds, faiths, genders and nationalities, although there are several factors which could make a person more at-risk.

A few indicators recognised together should be cause for concern; if you think something is not right, it's always better to report it than to not.

Call the Modern Slavery Helpline on 08000 121 700 for advice or to report a suspected incident of modern slavery anonymously.

For more information on who to call for help, see page 22.

The National Referral Mechanism (NRM)

The National Referral Mechanism (NRM) is the UK Government's framework for identifying and supporting potential victims of modern slavery. It is coordinated by the Home Office and entitles potential victims to support delivered by the Salvation Army through the Victim Care Contact.

NRM Summary

- Introduced in 2009 to identify and provide support to potential victims of modern slavery.
- It is a two-stage decision process:
 - Reasonable Grounds Decision (RG) – within 5 days of referral
 - Conclusive Grounds Decision (CG) – after 45 days.
- There is one decision maker the 'Single Competent Authority' which sits within the Home Office.
- Support is provided by the Salvation Army and its subcontractors. Ashiana and City Hearts are the two subcontractors in South Yorkshire.
- Referrals to the NRM are made by First Responders and informed consent must be sought from adult victims.
- The NRM does not negate safeguarding responsibilities.

NRM Pathway

*Time taken to make decisions can often be much longer

NRM Support

Once a person is referred into the NRM and if they receive a positive Reasonable Grounds Decision (See NRM Pathway on page 14), they can access support through the Salvation Army and its subcontractors.

Support includes:

- Safe accommodation and material assistance
- Emergency medical treatment and care
- Counselling and emotional support
- Advice on immigration and legal rights and services
- Advice on the criminal justice system
- Access to education for any school aged children
- Safe and dignified return to the home country on a voluntary basis
- Translation and interpretation services, when appropriate

Ashiana and City Hearts are the two providers of this support in South Yorkshire and they receive their referrals through the Salvation Army.

If you are working with a potential victim that needs support, call the Salvation Army Modern Slavery Helpline on 0300 303 8151.

NRM Referral

Only First Responders can refer people into the NRM, although anyone can report their concerns to the Modern Slavery Helpline on 08000 121 700.

The following organisations are First Responders:

- Police forces
- Certain parts of the Home Office:
 - o UK Visas and Immigration
 - o Border Force
 - o Immigration Enforcement
- National Crime Agency
- Local Authorities
- Gangmasters and Labour Abuse Authority (GLAA)
- Health and Social Care Trusts (Northern Ireland)
- Salvation Army
- Migrant Help
- Medaille Trust
- Kalayaan
- Barnardo's
- Unseen
- Tara Project (Scotland)
- NSPCC (Child Trafficking Advice Centre)
- BAWSO
- New Pathways
- Refugee Council

The National Referral Mechanism (NRM)

Before making a referral into the NRM, First Responders should:

- Consider the person's immediate needs.
- Explain the NRM in a language/format the PV understands.
This explanation should cover:
 - o what the NRM is
 - o what support is available through the NRM
 - o what the possible outcomes are for an individual being referred
 - o that information may be shared or sought by the Single Competent Authority (within the Home Office) from other public authorities e.g. police to gather further evidence for an NRM referral.
- Get informed consent from adults (18+) to refer them into the NRM. Where there are concerns around a person's capacity to consent, first responders should seek advice from the social services.
- Safeguard a child before making a referral into the NRM – they do not need to give consent.
- Explain that a referral into the NRM is NOT dependant on cooperation with law enforcement investigations.
- Always ensure a PV is safeguarded - the NRM does NOT negate the usual safeguarding requirements.

How to make a referral

First Responders can access the online NRM form on the government website: www.modernslavery.gov.uk/start

Here First Responders can:

- Refer PVs of any age to the NRM
- Help PVs receive support and medical care
- Complete and submit a Duty to Notify

What to do if an adult refuses the NRM

If an adult (18+) refuses the NRM you should ensure they are safeguarded and signpost them to other appropriate support e.g. domestic violence service. If you work for a public authority, you also have a 'Duty to Notify' and must complete an MS1 form. Find out more about the Duty to Notify here:

www.gov.uk/government/publications/duty-to-notify-the-home-office-of-potential-victims-of-modern-slavery

To find out more about the NRM visit:
www.gov.uk/government/publications/human-trafficking-victims-referral-and-assessment-forms/guidance-on-the-national-referral-mechanism-for-potential-adult-victims-of-modern-slavery-england-and-wales

What to do if you Identify a Potential Victim (PV)

STEP 1 - Immediate Risk

- If the PV is in immediate danger, call the police on 999.
- Where you can, put the PV at ease and ensure their immediate physical needs are met.

Always ensure you keep yourself safe. For advice, ring the Modern Slavery Helpline 08000 121 700.

STEP 2 – Initial Contact

The first contact with a PV is an important opportunity to build rapport and ensure they receive the appropriate support.

- Where you can, ensure the PV is in a safe place and try to put them at ease.
- Start from a standpoint of belief, and avoid making assumptions or judgements.
- Consider the need for an appropriate interpreter – always use a professional interpreting service and where possible take into account a PV's preference.
- Take into account the impact of trauma on a PV's memory recall or behaviour. They may not recognise them self as a victim.
- Maintain an accurate record of your contact with the PV.

If you are a First Responder go onto STEP 3. If you are not a First Responder go onto to STEP 3a - see page 21.

STEP 3 - Your organisation is a First Responder

If you have one, refer to your organisation's Modern Slavery Victim Referral Pathway.

- If the PV is a child, Children's Social Care Services in your Local Authority should be contacted.
- If the PV is an adult, consider carrying out an initial needs assessment and explain the National Referral Mechanism to them – see page 13.
- If an adult PV gives consent, make a referral into the NRM. This does not negate your safeguarding duties. If they are destitute and there is no duty on the LA to provide housing, call the Salvation Army (TSA) on 0300 303 8151 to arrange safe accommodation.
- If a PV does not consent to the NRM, ensure they are safeguarded and signposted to the appropriate support – review Pocketbook for services in your area.
- Submit a Duty to Notify MS1 form – see page 18.

Refer to the Human Trafficking Foundation's Trafficking and Survivor Care Standards for further guidance.

STEP 3a – Your organisation is not a First Responder

- Follow your own organisation's safeguarding policies.
- Depending on the PVs circumstances, they may not want any enforcement agency to be contacted. In this case, consider calling the Modern Slavery Helpline for advice on 08000 121 700 or The Salvation Army (TSA) for support 0300 303 8151.
- If they want to report what has happened to them to the police, but they are not in immediate danger, call 101.
